Prevent mosquito bites around your home and when traveling

The Alabama Department of Public Health cautions the public about preventing mosquito bites to protect themselves from mosquito-borne diseases.

In Alabama, mosquito-borne diseases include Eastern equine encephalitis virus (EEEV) and West Nile virus (WNV). WNV is the leading cause of mosquito-borne disease in the continental United States. Both WNV and EEEV can cause severe illness and death. No vaccine and no specific treatments are available for either condition. Therefore, the best defense against these diseases is to prevent mosquito bites.

To prevent mosquito bites:

- Use insect repellents.
- Wear long sleeves, long pants, and loose-fitting, light-colored clothes when possible.
- Use air conditioning or screens on windows and doors.
- Since mosquitoes tend to lay eggs near standing water, empty and scrub, turn over, cover, or throw out any items that hold water.
- Stay indoors during dawn and dusk hours when mosquitoes are most active.

Additionally, mosquito-borne diseases such as dengue, Zika, chikungunya and malaria may be acquired during international travel. Transmission of these diseases occurs primarily in tropical and subtropical areas. This year, over 10 million cases of dengue have been reported in North, Central, and South America and the Caribbean. Local transmission of these diseases may occur when an infected traveler returns home and is bitten by a mosquito that picks up the virus or parasite and then transmits it to another person during its next blood meal.

To prevent mosquito bites while traveling:

- Learn more about travel-related health risks at <https://www.wnc.cdc.gov/travel>
- Pack insect repellent and protective clothing.
- Look for lodging with screens or air conditioning or pack a mosquito net.
- If traveling abroad, find out if vaccines for mosquito-borne diseases are available.
- After your trip, watch for symptoms and prevent mosquito bites for three weeks.

If you believe you have symptoms of a mosquito-borne disease, seek testing and care from your healthcare provider. To learn more about mosquito-borne diseases, visit <https://www.alabamapublichealth.gov/mosquito/> and <https://www.cdc.gov/niosh/topics/outdoor/mosquito-borne/other.html>

Windy Thoughts
with Linda Hodge, Editor

We were extremely saddened last week to learn of the death of Semaj Wilkins, the 14-year-old football player at New Brockton High School. While it has not yet been determined exactly what caused this young man to collapse on the practice field of football practice, there must be questions of why and was there anything that could have prevented it. All we know for certain is this young man's life ended way too soon. We pray for comfort for all who were there that day, for his family and friends and for his school mates. This has surely been a sad and trying time for all.

While still on the subject of this tragedy, it has been heartwarming to see the outpouring of love and support directed to the New Brockton community from other communities over the past week or so. We were in attendance for the Meet the Tigers event last Thursday evening in Elba when the football team unveiled a banner that had been made to be displayed at Tiger Stadium this football season in memory of Semaj and for the entire New Brockton community. We had no idea the team had done such a thing prior to the banner being unveiled, and it honestly brought tears to our eyes to know that in tragic times, folks in these parts still come together to support one another. The Elba football team even had a second banner made for New Brockton High School so it too could display the "prayers from Elba" sentiment. That is how things should be done.

We will continue to pray for the Semaj Wilkins family and the New Brockton Schools for the days, weeks and months to come.

Those Friday Night Lights will come on this week for many area high school football teams. All the anticipation and build up leading into the new season will finally be here. The football players, cheerleaders, and band members have worked long and hard to have a good season. Let's all show them we appreciate their efforts by showing up and cheering loud for them all! However, let's all remember...it is just a game! So, be kind to your opponent and just have fun.

Elba High School will celebrate Homecoming early this football season, and we are a part of the "honored 30-year class" this year. That is the Elba High School Class of 1994! We have been talking alot recently with fellow classmates as we plan and prepare for our 30th high school reunion. In many of the talks, the ongoing joke has been, "When and how did we get here?!" It wasn't all that long ago that we would enjoy the Elba Homecoming Parades and smile at the "old folks float" when that trailer would make its way around the parade route carrying the Honored EHS 30 Year Class. All of a sudden those folks riding that float did not look so old anymore...and, now we are asking ourself how we suddenly got old enough to be riding that honored float. There must have been a calculation mistake somewhere! Jokes aside...we are looking forward to celebrating this milestone with out classmates. We were "Out the Door in '94" but are ready to "Ride Some More in '24!"

Questions to Ask a Funeral Home About Pre-Payment

Before making a financial commitment, use this checklist to ensure you fully understand a funeral home's pre-payment policies and practices:

What are the specific costs involved in the plan I want? Can I get a detailed, itemized list?

How do you guarantee today's prices will be honored when services are needed?

Do your pre-payment plans cover all the services I want, or will there be extra charges later?

What payment options do you offer (lump sum, installments, insurance policies)?

How will you secure my pre-paid money (trust, insurance, other)?

What happens if the funeral home goes out of business? Is my money protected?

Are there any state regulations that protect pre-need funeral funds?

Can I get a refund if I change my mind? Are there any fees associated with this?

What happens if I move to a different area? Can I transfer my plan to a different funeral home?

Can I make changes to the services I've selected in my pre-payment plan?

Do you offer any discounts or special pricing for pre-payment plans?

Can you provide references or testimonials from families who have used your pre-payment services?

Are you a member of any reputable funeral industry organizations?

Important: Don't be afraid to ask questions until you're completely comfortable. A reputable funeral home will be transparent and patient in explaining their pre-payment options.

Tip: Take notes during your discussions and have the funeral home provide written copies of any price lists or contracts.

"Love Never Ages"

What does the Bible say about... Sacrificial Love?

Article written by Douglas Williams

"For God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son, that whoever believes in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life" (John 3:16).

"This is my commandment, that you love one another as I have loved you. Greater love has no man than this, than to lay down one's life for his friends. You are my friends if you do whatever I command you" (John 15:12-14).

In Romans 5:6 the Bible tells us "Christ died for the ungodly," and then states, "But God demonstrates His own love toward us, in that while we were still sinners, Christ died for us. Much more then, having now been justified by His blood, we shall be saved from wrath through Him (Romans 5:8-9).

God sent Jesus to this earth as our perfect example of sacrificial love, as well as in every area of our lives. All should desire to come to Him in the obedience of faith, repentance, confession, and baptism, and to try to be like Him as best we can. If we are to follow Jesus (Matthew 16:14), having His mind, and walking as He walked, then we must imitate His sacrificial love.

This love will cause us to prefer others instead of self as Paul wrote at Romans

12:10, "Be kindly affectionate to one another with brotherly love, in honor giving preference to one another." We must consider others as more worthy than ourselves, and we must not be jealous when others are honored and we are neglected. Our duty to others is summed up in the sweet word of "love."

Sacrificial love will cause us to esteem others better than ourselves. Paul says, "Let nothing be done through selfish ambition or conceit, but in lowliness of mind let each esteem others better than himself" (Philippians 2:3).

This love will cause us to seek the welfare of others. We must be more concerned about the interests of others than our own. The Bible states, "Let no one seek his own, but each one the others well-being" (1 Corinthians 10:24). We must not do anything to hurt our neighbor, but promote our neighbor's welfare. We certainly must act in such a way to help others, and not hinder them in their salvation.

The Christian is to live a loving and caring life of worship and service. If you are not a Christian, please obey God while you still have the opportunity (2 Corinthians 6:2), because tomorrow may be too late (James 4:13-17).

We Don't Know Our Own Strength

When a person shakes our hand and squeezes too hard, or hugs us and embrace too tightly, we sometimes say, "He doesn't know his own strength!" In some cases there is more truth to that statement than meets the eye. We read of individuals coming to the aid of a loved one who is pinned under the wreckage of an automobile accident. Suddenly they find themselves able to lift something they could not ordinarily lift. The crisis gave them a "rush" of adrenaline that provided a strength far beyond their ordinary ability. Something similar to this may be said with regard to our spiritual strength. Because that strength comes from God and not from us, it is far greater than we realize. Many people have found themselves able to endure a period of suffering that they would never have thought they could endure. Many have found victory over temptations they had thought too strong for them.

"A mighty fortress is our God," "Did we in our own strength confide, our striving would be losing." Regardless of the situation we face, even if we have never faced it before, God's strength will never prove inadequate. For every Christian it can truly be said, "He doesn't know his own strength" - because the Christian's strength is God's. - R.C.S.

The Mularz clan headed to the beach over the weekend to help celebrate our grandson Cannon's second birthday, and this time even his 'ole granddaddy got in the pool and spent some leisure time in the lazy river. It was the last free weekend for a couple of months, but it was a good way to close out the summer.

For what it is worth....

 To suggest Elba Tiger football fans are spoiled is an understatement! The Tigers have posted 17 straight winning seasons, since their last state title back in 2015 have posted a combined record of 74-21, and over the last three seasons have rolled to an amazing 34-4 record. About the only thing fans can be heard buzzing about is the fact that despite the success the Tigers have gone eight years since adding another state championship trophy to their crowded trophy case. If we are to believe all the so-called sports experts, this may be the season the Tigers quiet even their most spoiled fans and bring home a big blue map. Easier said than done; however, since the recent success on the football field has also out a gigantic target on the team's back and there is never any doubt the team will get the best every opponent has to offer. I know Elba has enough talent this season to win a state title, but along with talent it takes a little luck to get it done, and if the ball bounces the right way it could be a season to remember for all the right reasons. We as fans are all excited and can't wait to cheer for the Tigers, and we all hope they play their best, stay safe and win'em all. Go Tigers!!

 The high school football season will kick off for three of the area teams this week and all the fans at all the schools have high hopes that a banner season is on the way. Over at New Brockton, the Gamecocks have struggled the last two years and this season will have to fight not only a schedule filled with challenges, but a schedule filled with 4A opponents. While there is no doubt the Gamecocks will be much improved and maybe even pull off a surprise or two, it will take time for the team to catch up with the school's recent growth spurt and be a contender in the 4A ranks. Down at Kinston, the Bulldogs are sky high expecting a big season, and after a big win back in the spring over a 3A foe there is cause for the excitement. The Bulldogs are very well coached and play as hard as any team in the state, but will need a little luck to make the post-season party due to sheer numbers and the fact the region is once again loaded with some of the top 2A teams to be found. Up at Zion Chapel, the Rebels have been slowly building the foundation for a winning program and despite heavy losses on the roster last season should be much improved. The Rebels have a schedule that includes a trio of opponents that are simply not very good in football, and if the Rebs can stay focused in those games and work hard to improve week in and week out, the schedule could very well be extended come playoff time.

 Most coaches will never admit they have any idea what their career record is, even if they know. Here in Alabama we are lucky to have some of the nest high school coaches in the nation, and heading into this season the winningest coach in the state is Terry Curtis with 355 wins, followed closely by Danny Horn and Paul Benefield with 351, apiece. While his teams in three states have posted a total of 148 wins, Opp's Ed Rigby is nearing the '100-Win' milestone in Alabama as he will enter the 2024 campaign with 95 victories, with the wins coming at Elba, Eufaula, Pike Road and Luverne. Other names you may recognize that are big winners along the sidelines are Andalusia's Trent Taylor (277), W. S. Neal's Hugh Fountain (266) and Calera's Scott Rials (185).

Sticking with high school football, there are a number of streaks that teams will carry into the 2024 season, including most consecutive wins (Leroy - 20), most consecutive losses (Columbia - 81), most consecutive region wins (Montgomery Catholic - 34), most consecutive region losses (Barbour County - 65) and most consecutive winning seasons (Gordo - 31). Every game adds a new page to the record book, and it's fun to try and keep pace to try to know all there is to know about the game.

I am not much an NBA fan and didn't know many of the players that dressed out on the USA Olympic team. However, I did recognize Labron James and have to admit that he carried the team to the gold medal. I know Seth Curry hit a bunch of three-pointers in the final two wins and was amazing to watch, but James showed up every time the team hit the court and more than once put the team on his shoulders and willed them to a win. James doesn't get as much praise as he did in years past, but the 39-year-old superstar is without a doubt one of the best ever and I was proud he was wearing the red, white and blue in Paris!  Ye Ole Polish Prognosticator had to be talked out of retiring after a banner season of prep picks a year ago and only agreed to come back for more punishment after being assured that area fans truly needed something to look forward to, and disagree with, every week during the season. Our local gridiron guesspert is one of only a few left across the state, and while fans will never agree with all his picks, at least the picks do give them something to talk about. Here we go again....

ELBA VS. LUVERNE

The Pea River felines will make the short trip up to the so-called 'Friendliest City in the South' Friday night to renew an old and heated rivalry with a litter of kitties that love to wear red and hate to lose at home. If the felines have been reading the headlines all summer about winning a state title and believe all they have to do to win is just show up this one could be a rude awaking. In a four-quarter battle....

KINSTON VS. ZION CHAPEL

The bulldogs from down near the county line will visit Fort Jack this weekend to renew a cross-county rivalry with a regiment of troops that have to be looking forward to giving the 'Dogs a grand tour. The troops no doubt have a trap set just outside the fort and think a big win is on the way in the opening battle of the year. However, this one may be a lot closer than any think.

NEW BROCKTON VS. PIKE LIBERAL ARTS

The flock of game birds that hang out near the four-lane will make the short flight to T-Town Friday night when they open the season against an army of patriots that have their weapons stationed on top of a hill overlooking the entrance to the battle ground. If the roosters can make it up the hill they have a chance, and something tells me they have more than just a chance.

Tigers kick off season at Luverne

The Elba Tigers will kick off their season on Friday night when they renew their rivalry against the Luverne Tigers, after a six-year absence on the schedule.

Elba owns a 42-31-1 series edge, but lost its last meeting 20-4 in 2017 and over the last 17 years has struggled to a 4-13 record, dating back to 1996.

"We have always tried to schedule quality non-region opponents," said Elba Tiger head coach Marc Sieving, "and that is certainly the case with Luverne. Luverne has been a power in the 2A ranks since the days of Hall-of-Fame coach Glenn Daniel, and in recent years has shown no signs of slowing down. Elba and Luverne played each other every year for decades in the past and it was good to get it back on the schedule."

Coach Sieving, in his fifth season at Elba, has led the Tigers to a 40-8 record, four straight playoff appearances, and is ranked number one in the state in Class 1A in preseason polls after a 13-1 record a year ago. The Tigers are an amazing 34-4 the last three seasons and have averaged over forty points a game. This year's edition of the Tigers is expected to be led by flour all-state returnees in Alvin Henderson, Cayden Adkins, Jacob Watkins and Emanuel Cooks. Henderson, an Auburn commit, set a number of state rushing records a year ago from his running back position, while Adkins, a Georgia State commit, is considered one of the state's top defenders at linebacker; Watkins is a ferocious hitter at linebacker; and, Cooks is a massive 6-4, 285-pound lineman.

"We have some quality players back from last year's squad and they are all hungry to win a state title," added Sieving, "but they know success comes one week at a time and they are focused on the opener against Luverne. We have worked hard and expect to play well. However, you never really know what you've got until you take the field against an opponent, and Luverne will be as good as any team on our schedule. We really don't know what to expect from Luverne after its coaching change, but Coach Hudson had been with Coach Rigby for a long time and you have to believe it will resemble what they have done together for so long. We know they will be big and strong up front, and blessed with quality athletes all over the field. This will be a challenge for us in all aspects, and we will have to be ready to play to bring home a win."

"We are going to do what we do, and that is run the football and try to dominate at the line of scrimmage," said Sieving. "We have been successful the last four years running the football and we aren't to change what brought us success. Alvin will get his carries from a couple of different places in the backfield and Cayden will carry his share of the load at quarterback. With Alvin's speed and Cayden's power it should combine for a solid 1-2 punch. Jacob Watkins is also more than capable of being a game-breaker, and we may try and put the ball in the air a little more to loosen up folks that load up the line of scrimmage. That being said, if we are going to be successful we have to be able to run the football, ELBA TIGER COACH MARC SIEVING will lead his team into Luverne this week for the 2024 season opener. It will mark Sieving's fifth year the helm at Elba High.

and that is what we will do first and foremost."

Former Elba High grad Bobby Hudson is in his first season as the head coach at Luverne after one season as an assistant under Ed Rigby, and even though Hudson will be the team's third head coach in the last three years, there is no expectation of any let down for the Tigers from Crenshaw County.

Luverne has posted a winning record 15 of the last 16 seasons, and has advanced to the state playoffs a record 41 straight years. Last season, Luverne posted a 7-4 record after a 6-0 start, with losses to 2A powers Highland Home, Goshen, Reeltown and Cottonwood. "Luverne is a very dangerous football team on both offense and defense," stated Sieving, "and we all know it will be a four-quarter battle. On offense we need to move the chains, maintain drives through dominance on the ground and out points on the scoreboard when we get inside the red zone. Over on defense, we will have to try to take way the big play and not let Luverne just line up and drive the ball down our throats. It will be physical and hard-played, and we will learn a lot about our team. Despite the fact the game is on the road and Luverne is as good as anybody on our schedule, we are looking forward to the challenge because to be the best you have to beat the best."

Area teams ready for 2024 season openers

The high school football season will kick off Friday night with three area teams taking the field, including the renewal of a cross-county rivalry between the Zion Chapel Rebels and the Kinston Bulldogs, and a first-ever meeting between the New Brockton Gamecocks and Pike Liberal Arts Patriots.

Kinston at Zion Chapel
The gridiron rivalry between the Kinston Bulldogs and Zion Chapel Rebels will be renewed this week after a two-year absence when the 1A Bulldogs head to Greene Memorial Stadium to butt heads with the 2A Rebels.

Zion Chapel owns a 25-22 series edge over their rivals, but Kinston has won three of the last five meetings and last season posted a 20-12 win.

Kinston is coached by Rudy Free, in his sixth season with the Bulldogs. The Bulldogs have posted only two winning seasons in the past ten years, posted a 2-8 record last season and over the past two seasons have managed to post a record of 6-14.

Zion Chapel is coached by Cody Keene, Jr., in his third season as the commander of the Rebels. The Rebels have posted an 8-12 record over the past two seasons, including a 5-5 record a year ago, and included among the five wins were the first-ever win over Geneva County and the second straight win over Abbeville.

New Brockton at Pike Liberal Arts

The New Brockton Gamecocks will kick off the season on the road when they travel to Troy for a first-ever gridiron contest against the Pike Liberal Arts Patriots.

New Brockton is coached by Jason Barnett, in his second season with the Gamecocks. The Gamecocks posted a 3-7 record last year after going winless the season before and have stumbled to five straight losing seasons.

Pike Liberal Arts is coached by former New Brockton grad and assistant coach William Moguel, in his second year at the helm. A first year member of the AHSAA in football, the Patriots have struggled to back-to-back 3-7 records as an independent, but have won four state championships as a past member of the AISA.

Gamecocks to continue rebuilding process

New Brockton head football coach Jason Barnett calls it a work in progress whenever someone mentions the Gamecock football program, and while Gamecock fans are excited about the new season after winning three games a year ago and snapping a 14-game losing streak, the second-year New Brockton coach can't hide his optimism about the return to the gridiron.

"People say we laid the foundation for the program last season," said Barnett in a published interview in The Dothan Eagle, "but I say we are still laying the foundation and are not close to having things fixed. You don't go 0-15 and say it is fixed. We put some bricks down last season and this year it is time for us to pour the cement."

New Brockton closed Barnett's first season with a 3-7 record, but did find its way back into the win column after an 0-10 campaign the season before, and snapped a 14-game losing streak that humbled the once proud program.

"All we have done is change the work ethic and the way we did things," added Barnett. "When I did testing prior to last season we only had six players that could lift over 600 pounds in the bench press/squat and power clean combined, and today we have fifty."

Helping to create a new winning attitude is the fact seven starters are back on both offense and defense, which has fans excited about the team's chances to post an above .500 record for the first time since 2018 and a state playoff berth for the first time since 2019.

The Gamecocks appear loaded on offense with the return of quarterback Dawson Peacock (5-10, 160) and receivers Baylon Foster (5-9, 170) and Anthony Silar (6-2, 180). Peacock completed 18 straight passes in last year's win over Northside Methodist, and for the season completed 81 of 135 passes for 1,372 yards and 15 touchdowns. Foster pulled in 37 catches for 719 yards and 10 td's a year ago, while Silar had 27 catches for three scores.

"Dawson had never really played quarterback until last year," said Barnett, "but we stuck with him and he was fine once he came into his own. Baylon is our guy. We spread him out into space and try to find him, and Anthony is out wide guy that tries to blow people off the top."

Four offensive linemen are also back to anchor the front wall, led by Caden Sherer (6-0, 220), Robert Boutwell (5-9, 270), Mike Brown (6-1, 280) and Noah Moore (6-1, 210), with Bryant Thomas and Mark Register both expected to play major roles in the line.

While the Gamecocks have no experience returning in the offensive backfield, Camryn Wolf and Blake Cox are expected to get the majority of the carries, with Cox also expected to get time at tight-end.

Defensively, New Brockton are again blessed with experience and are looking for the defense to spread the tackles around.

Bryant Crumpler (5-10, 180) and Bradyn Crumpler (6-0, 190) are both back at linebacker and defensive line, with Bryant being among the team leaders in tackles a year ago with 122 stops. Jarred Pettit (5-9, 206) will also be back in the defensive line, and will be joined by Leo Reyes and Elijah Boykin to make the line a strength for the Gamecocks on the defensive side. Kaiden Sims, Gabriel Dean and Baylon Foster are expected to see action at linebacker, while the secondary returns three starters in Micah Murphy (5-9, 135), Gavin Hand (5-9, 145) and Anthony Silar, and are expected to be joined by James Downing and Alex Pait.

Cayden Avalos will handle the place kicking chores for the Gamecocks, with Davis Soto helping on kickoffs, and Baylon Foster handling the punting.

Bulldogs expecting a return to winning ways

The Kinston Bulldogs compete in what many call the toughest Class 1A region in the state and face one of the state's most challenging schedules this season with four of their first five games on the road. However, the Bulldogs are reported to have weapons on offense, veterans across the fronts and a couple of linebackers that have been through the wars, which has pumped new life into the players and fans.

One of the most prominent weapons in Kinston's arsenal is senior Colby Tew (6-1, 205), who last season excelled at both running back and outside linebacker, and is expected to be a leader on both sides of the ball.

"Colby has played a long time," said Kinston head coach Rudy Free in an interview with The Dothan Eagle. "This will be his third year starting and he has grown and gotten stronger. He should be one of our main guys on both sides of the ball. He had almost 1,500 yards rushing last year, and with him getting bigger and stronger we are expecting a lot out of him this season."

While Tew may be the main weapon in the arsenal, senior quarterback Brant McCollough (6-1, 185) is also being looked upon to provide plenty of fireworks.

"Last year was his first as a starting quarterback and he went through some growing pains and struggled at times," added Free, in his sixth season with the Bulldogs. "Brant is one of the fastest kid we have on the team and has gained weight, which will make him a stronger runner. Him and Colby need to be our two guys that touch the ball. Colby needs 20 carries and game and Brant needs about 15. We are working on our passing game with a lot of play-action stuff, and some things that I think he can do to utilize his passing game - maybe not a drop back passing game, but a sprint out passing game."

The Bulldogs return four starters along the offensive line in Drew Branch (5-10, 225), Marcus Free (5-10, 210), Jacob Hughes (5-9, 190) and Carter Hughes (5-9, 215), while tight-end Whitt Floyd (6-0, 195) is also back as a starter.

"It is good to have what we call the strong side of our offensive line back," said Free. "They have been playing a lot of ball the last two years. You start with Whitt Floyd, who has gotten a lot bigger, and go down the line and Drew Branch is probably the biggest lineman we've got. One spot we are really looking for on the line is our quick tackle spot, and Isaiah Carnley and Caleb Watson are two guys that can hopefully come in and take that spot."

Michael Maschek will be a junior wingback for the Bulldogs, with Judd Green and Gabriel Hataway expected to handle the receiving slots.

Over on defense, Free and Floyd are being looked upon to be team leaders from their positions at inside linebacker.

"Whitt and Marcus, my two inside linebackers, are guys who have to take charge and get everybody lined up, make calls and stuff like that," added Free. "Whitt, a three-year starter, is really the vocal guy and is like a quarterback on defense."

McCollough will handle the punting duties, while Free is the placekicker and Judd Green the snapper.

Coach Free reported that the Bulldogs are a little stronger number-wise than in years past with 25 varsity players.

Rebels looking for return to grid playoffs

The Zion Chapel Rebels hope to continue their recent trek toward a winning season this year under the guidance of second-year head coach Cody Keene, Jr, who last season led the Rebels to five wins, the most since 2019.

Coach Keene believes the team's work ethic has been the key to the team's recent improvement and in an interview with The Dothan Eagle stated, "I think we have done that in the weight room. That will always be our main focus - the things we can control such as our effort, our attitude, our toughness level and our strength."

"A lot of times you will have twenty percent at the top trying to bring sixty percent along and the twenty percent at the bottom trying to pull them down. I feel like we only have a couple of kids that aren't in all the way, and they know who they are and have to get in and join with the others kids that have bought in to the weight room and have had a great off-season."

Leading the way on offense this season on offense is expected to be junior quarterback John Foster Hamm (5-9, 180), who is making a move from running back. Other keys to success on the offensive side will come from senior wide-receivers Kavan Brown (5-10, 145) and Joseph LeGear (5-10, 155), as LeGear was the team's leading receiver last season with 24 catches for 473 yards and Brown pulled in eight catches for 150 yards and three touchdowns.

"John Foster is a rising junior and last year we went to him whenever Mason Stuart would get dinged up," added Keene. "He is a kid I believe in. He is high effort, high energy and super consistent That is what you need in a quarterback."

Tight-end Weston Watson (5-11, 205) is back and last season caught five passes for 87 yards and one td, while Jeremiah Stinson (5-7, 165) will be back at running back, and should have plenty of company from teammates Brayden Benbow, Joe Bradley and Bobby Rhodes.

"It will be running back by committee," said Keene. "They all do different things and do different things well. We will adjust our play calls to whoever is in the game."

Two linemen return in Gage Wambles (5-9, 235) and Peyton Davis (6-3, 260), with a number of players battling for starting spots alongside the two veterans.

"I expect our defense to be better this year, added Keene. "I will be disappointed if our defense isn't 'Raising Cain' every Friday night and reading newspaper clippings on Saturday."

Last season, the Rebels defense allowed 23.9 points per game, the third best since 1996 and the best since 2011.

Zion Chapel returns six starters on the defensive side, led by honorable mention all-state linebacker Brayden Benbow (5-11, 180), with three of the returnees being seniors and three being juniors.

"He has good instincts and plays really hard," said Keene, of his standout linebacker. "The main thing that makes him so productive is he plays so hard. There are things he has to continue to improve on, but he sees the ball well and just plays really hard."

Connor Lee (6-0, 180) will return at outside linebacker, while Wambles and Jackson Dowdy (6-0, 180) will be back in the defensive line, where last season Dowdy made 83 tackles, with 13 tackles for losses. LeGear and Hamm will return in the secondary, where the duo combined for seven interceptions last season. Hamm is also the Rebels kicker and punter.
